

MELJAC has unveiled 2 new lever designs: Seattle and JMA

MELJAC, a leader in high-end switches, is offering the original lever from its Ellipse collection as well as 2 new models with equally sophisticated designs. These designs enhance the noble material of the brass plates which are handmade in France.

Designed and perfected by the R&D department, these innovations respond to a real need for custom-tailored styles, which are what the brand is famous for.

Expertise in the service of aesthetics

The Ellipse collection, a brass range characterised by straight edges and a lever with a rectangular base, has inspired the creation of 2 new working designs.

Developed by the design department to satisfy the needs of major designers, these innovations are testament to MELJAC's know-how and its greatest asset: custom-tailored styles.

Seattle revisits MELJAC's water drop, the brand's signature design, and JMA offers straighter styles.

The 3 levers are attached to a rectangular, hollow and mirror-polished cannon (base), on which an LED backlight can be added to create a subtle accentuation.

These designs add a touch of modernity to suit any interior.
