

Meljac launches its new Cannelée collection

Meljac, the market leader in high-end switches, has developed a new collection made from solid brass with a distinctive, striated surface. This innovation for 2018, which is unique anywhere in the marketplace, is the product of a partnership with the architect, Jean-Michel WILMOTTE.

Featuring the brand new JMA rocker switch, the Cannelée range once again demonstrates the brand's expertise and the quality that can be achieved by French manufacturing.

■ A sensuous, designer collection

The Cannelée collection innovates with a surface made from 6,5 mm-thick, solid brass to create a striated surface with regular grooved channels. The hand-finished patina creates a reflective effect that varies with the ambient light.

Developed using Meljac's own expertise, a Entreprise du Patrimoine Vivant labelled, this collection has been produced with a range of high-performance digital tools as well as the irreplaceable involvement of the human hand.
