

MELJAC is expanding its Damier collection adding 230V models and bespoke switches

MELJAC, the leader in high-end switches is adapting its Damier models for 230V electrical equipment. Until now, this collection was only available in 12V (low current or home automation devices).

There's more, you can now choose what shape the switches will be, they can either be flush to the panel or raised, and you can add backlighting (in the colour of your choice) as a gentle guide to help you find it in the dark.

MELJAC is well-known for its expertise and as a reference for quality electrical accessories that look great and are made in France.

MELJAC is synonymous with design and practicality

The Damier collection features straight edges and square push-button switches; be enchanted by clean lines and high-grade materials, hand-aged, solid brass (over 25 shades to choose from). It can now be fitted with all kinds of electrical equipment: "very low voltage" (home automation or low voltage like USB plugs, RJ etc.) and "low voltage" 230V, which are more widespread in France particularly with electric sockets. Damier styles can now be used for renovation.

To give our customers even more choice, MELJAC has created new switch shapes: round, oval, triangular, rectangular, flush to the panel or raised, whatever you prefer. Bespoke and made-to-measure are still the keywords at MELJAC, making each creation unique.
