Machined and engraved edges

MELJAC, a leading manufacturer of luxury electrical hardware, now offers a selection of new border details for its brass collections. The plates now appear against the wall like framed paintings and constitute an integral part of your interior's design.

MELJAC's designs, handmade in France following age-old traditions, are the product of renowned expertise and the most advanced technological tools.

A sophisticated final touch

The variety of engraving and machining techniques used by the professionals at MELJAC offers a multitude of options for bespoke lighting controls and power outlets. The product's quality is perceptible to the touch thanks to the embossed design of the edges, made possible by this precision craftsmanship.

This option is available for all brass products in a variety of thicknesses. Some patterns can also be adorned with colored resin or silkscreen printed, based on the client's preferences.
