

When it comes to sockets, Meljac has it covered

Meljac, the manufacturer of electrical fittings, offers luxury brass sockets with hinged covers for an elegant appearance. The quality of the material shines through, with surface treatment used to create a superb finish or patina that elevates the product and reflects careful attention to detail. Sockets with hinged covers are becoming decorative objects in their own right, over and above their functional purpose.

Meljac harnesses French expertise based on state-of-the-art digital tools combined with the irreplaceable human touch to guarantee optimal quality products.

Perfect harmony

Hinged covers are particularly popular for kitchens and bathrooms, where sockets tend to be at eye level, as they avoid the contrast between the finish of the brass plate and the interior of the socket or other mechanism.

For perfect coordination with switches, thermostats, alarm keypads, door frames and tap fittings, the Meljac colour chart offers a choice of thirty brass finishes.

Sockets installed on yachts can be fitted with magnets so that the cover remains closed.

Meljac's "Sol" collection offers waterproof covers (IP44).

The dimensions of the covers are tailored to the format of the product (rectangular, square, round, etc.).
