Meljac, France's leading manufacturer of luxury switches, is proud to unveil its latest range: the Lalique collection. An alliance between two outstanding French creators has given rise to a unique series of switches that blend art and technology.

The know-how of two iconic names comes together in an elegant synthesis of materials: delicate panes of Lalique crystal slot perfectly into brass plates manufactured by Meljac, which magnify the shimmering crystal reflections.

These functional, visually stunning pieces bring Lalique's timeless elegance to every interior, adding an exquisite fragment of discreet, authentic luxury to the wall.

This partnership perfectly reflects our mission to elevate materials and skilled craftsmanship through unique creations. In fostering a dialogue between two distinct worlds, we have transported these physical objects beyond their functional purpose, turning them into a design feature in their own right as part of a collection that exudes technical prowess, sophistication and inspiration.

Jean-Michel Lagarde, Managing Director of Meljac

It was a logical choice for us to work with Meljac: our two brands share the same passion for excellence and respect for French craftsmanship. By combining the finesse of Lalique crystal with the precision of Meljac's brass work, we have created our own unique interpretation of French art de vivre.

A subtle alliance of skill, substance and light

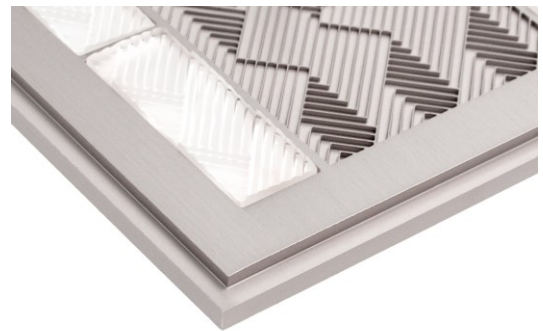

The collection blends artistic expression with technical know-how, turning an everyday routine into an aesthetic, sensory experience. Solid brass plates crafted with Meljac's hallmark precision are set with delicate panes of Lalique crystal, sculpted in the finest Art Deco tradition with the Vibration motif.

The intermingling of these two quality materials results in a harmonious balance between craftsmanship and contemporary style. With a selection of 29 solid brass finishes to choose from, Meljac enhances the gleaming light effects of the crystal. Each switch is an exquisite jewel adorning the wall. These creations are functional and lyrical, exuding the discreet, timeless luxury for which both Meljac and Lalique are renowned.

French excellence down to the last detail

With this new collection, Meljac is further extending its range of luxury brass products, pushing the boundaries of elegance by joining forces with iconic French crystal house Lalique. The two creators have both been awarded prestigious Living Heritage Company certification. The attention to detail has been taken to the next level: the motif delicately sculpted in the crystal is echoed in the brass engraving, creating a continuous line that symbolises the alliance of expertise between the brands. For prestigious projects, the Lalique collection can offer bespoke designs.
